Parade of Homes Announces Award Winners

(September 23, 2011) The Home Builders Association of Metropolitan Harrisburg, organizer of the Parade of Homes, announced winners for this year's show in six categories in addition to the five winners of the Fulton Award considered Best Of Show in a variety of price/type categories. A complete list of winners is available at www.PaParadeofHomes.com

Judges were selected from the membership rosters from Builders Associations in other nearby communities scoring homes in six categories to receive Gold and Silver Awards. Those categories included Exterior, Interior, Kitchen, Master Suite, Decorated and Landscaped.

Since the first Parade of Homes in Harrisburg in 1995, the Parade has given builders this annual opportunity to present their best work in a diverse home types and styles throughout the capital region. The awards define for Parade visitors which homes have achieved notoriety and may help guide them to homes of special interest. For the builder, the awards provide a much appreciated recognition for work well done and also guide future home designs to help builders stay current with popular preferences.
